EDITOR'S NOTES

Sorry about the delay folks but we have moved into new offices - and that took us a while.

But anyhow, we are back and we've scrapped the idea of rebranding to east SIXTH magazine, too many of you folks had a problem with that so...

No worries.

In this issue we have another appearance from Alexis from the lens of Jack Watson, she has been around forEVER. She still looks fabulous!

Eddie has blessed us with his latest shoot.

Check out In the kitchen with Eddie Mc for a look at some of his new models and of course a couple of regulars like Angel Lee and MOTY Geneva.

Eric Ross takes a look at an epidemic plaguing the Black community in his article Behind Enemy Lines.

And, wait for it...we have a new pictorial from Alexis.

Well, I hope you enjoy this issue.

Please feel free to send any comments to Move over Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue and make room for ESPN's body issue.

Christen Press is a forward for the Chicago Red Stars and a member of the World Cup Champion US Women's Soccer team. I would also add that she has become one of my favorite women in the world.

If her Instagram post are any indication, I can almost say for certain...Rihanna is giving up that ass to Lebron James. This wasn't the only Instagram rumor that surfaced after Lebron added to his collection of hardware. 18 year old model Rachel Bush also had a hand in his wife's worries. But let's keep it real, Rachel's claims are probably a publicity stunt while Rihanna actually has the access and the goodies to earn an official Lebron squirt across her belly.

STORY OF THE MONTH

Here's a screen cap of the nude celebrities who appears in Kanye West's new famous music video! The photo features Taylor Swift, Ray J, Amber Rose, Caitlyn Jenner, Anna Wintour, Chris Brown, Rihanna, Bill Cosby, Donald Trump and George W. Bush.

Are you fucking serious?

Kanye is laying between his big ass wife Kim and Taylor Swift. Kim is laying next to Ray J, Rihanna is next to Chris Brown...I mean all of this is absolutely insane.

Or is it?

ANGEL BORIS

Born in Fort Lauderdale, Florida and after entering the Venus Swimwear international model search in 1994, she was discovered by Playboy photographer David Chan. While working for Hawaiian Tropic, she appeared in a Playboy pictorial featuring the women of Hawaiian Tropic, and in July 1996 she became Playboy's Playmate of the Month. Her centerfold was photographed by Richard Fegley.

In 2001, she appeared on the TV soap opera General Hospital for about six months, playing a character whose name was also Angel. In 2002, she made an appearance on The King of Queens.

Q & A

Top Floor Magazine answers the questions submitted to the Playboy Advisor

I am unable to maintain an erection with a condom on. I wonder whether this is unusual and if it could be psychological. Have you heard of this, and is there a solution?—P.F., Traverse City, Michigan

First I would I would check your condom size. If you're using a size that's too small it could be cutting off the blood flow to your penis. If that's not the problem I would refer you to the phrase practice makes perfect. You might want to throw on a porn flick and masturbate while using a condom. That way you'll get use to the sensation of wearing a condom while stimulating your penis. If you have the means I would suggest one of these...

I was actually surprised by the variety of the these um...sex aides. These things can satisfy almost any sexual fantasy that you have. Black, White, on their knees, on their back, big booty. Just slip on a condom and put in some work.

Seriously?

A shocking study claims men who chug too much cola could be damaging their manhood.

Scientists revealed that drinking one liter of the fizzy drink a day could reduce sperm count by a massive 30% and lead to erectile dysfunction.

Research undertaken at Copenhagen University Hospital found men who classed themselves as being addicted to cola had far less effective swimmers than those who avoided the drink.

The study looked at 2,554 men, and found cola addicts had an average sperm count of 35 million per milliliter, compared to 56 million per millilitre in those who consumed less of the drink.

While a sperm count of 35 million still falls within the normal range, it puts men more at risk of eventually becoming infertile.

But that's exactly what shameless love rat Lonnie Turner did - with the incredible post going viral. The married dad from Houston, Texas, uploaded a photograph of both his wife Tammy M. Arrington-Turner and his mistress Helen Yancy in a bikini .

And he wrote a message that read: "These two better learn to get along. I work extremely hard, and I think I deserve to have everything my little heart desires. Why have a cake & can't eat it??? I want multiple cakes!!"

Orlando Love

Last month there was a very traumatic event in my area. I know this happens every day whether we hear about it or not, but when something like this is SO close it makes you put a lot into perspective.

Forty nine people are dead because of HATE, forty nine peoples' family will suffer because of HATE. When will it stop?

Just when you think you can't be any angrier for all the hate that has presented itself, LOVE comes around the corner.

I have seen LOVE pour out from around the Nation for Orlando. People from all walks of life helping people! I have been getting calls, emails and have seen SO many advertisements to help victims, business owners that had to close, and family members left behind. I can't tell you how much good it did my heart to see all of that.

We need to start teaching acceptance and love if we are ever going to make a positive change in the world.

Remember, to teach love is to teach peace!

One world ~ One love!

Love,

SUICIDE SQUAD

A mix of well-known and unknown villains (Deadshot, King Shark, Captain Boomerang and Harley Quinn) are recruited by the government to accomplish a task deemed too dangerous for superheroes.

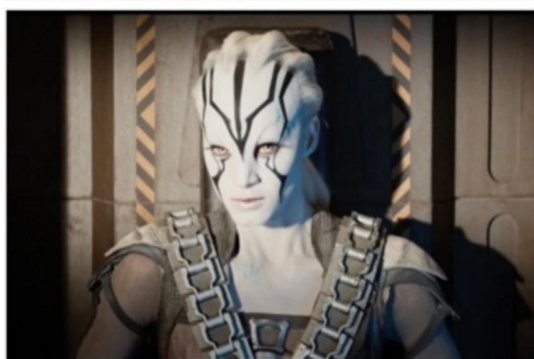

The historically independent operators must bury their own interpersonal conflicts and agendas to form a cohesive unit to take on a singular task.

IN THEATRES

Lights Out

A frightening entity with a mysterious attachment to their mother, Sophie, has reemerged. But this time, as Rebecca gets closer to unlocking the truth, there is no denying that all their lives are in danger...once the lights go out.

Star Trek Beyond

The U.S.S. Enterprise crew explores the furthest reaches of uncharted space, where they encounter a mysterious new enemy who puts them and everything the Federation stands for to the test.

Central Intelligence

The story follows a one-time bullied geek who grew up to be a lethal CIA agent (Johnson), coming home for his high school reunion. Claiming to be on a top-secret case, he enlists the help of the former "big man on campus" (Hart), now an accountant who misses his glory days.

The Forest

Sara Price (Natalie Dormer), an American woman, receives a phone call from the Japanese police telling her that they think her troubled twin sister Jess is dead, as she was seen going into Aokigahara forest. Despite the concerns of her fiancé, Rob (Eoin Macken), she journeys to Japan and arrives at the hotel where her sister was staying.

A very intriguing film packed full of shocking moments that will keep you on the edge of your seat.

You won't find a lot of gore but you won't miss it.

The surprise ending will make your jaw drop.

Great film! Available on DVD and On Demand

The Funhouse Massacre

The film was supposed to be a low budget slasher film but it turned out to be a very realistic funhouse horror flick. The blood is sometimes a little over the top but that's the fun of it.

NO...Don't...Stop!

50 Shades of Black

I laughed a couple of times during this film but for the most part it was just full of dumb jokes that don't work. Don't bother renting the DVD or ordering this On Demand.

Album of the Month

American Love is the fifth studio album from country singer Jake Owen. Right out the gate Owen hits you with the amazing title track written by Jaren Johnston and produced by Shane McAnally and Ross Copperman, this track is destined for the top of the country charts. Another solid track is If he ain't gonna love you written by Laird, McAnally and Copperman. The funky upbeat arrangement gives it real crossover potential. Another one of my favorites is the leisurely When you love someone. It's a track that you can get up close and personal to.

Hot track - If he ain't gonna love you

Honey West Retro Presents

Jubilee! End of A Vegas Era

Welcome to this month's HoneyWestRetro! I'm taking a look at one of the most iconic, longest running (34 years) showgirl extravaganzas ever to appear on the Las Vegas

Strip: Jubilee! And it's a very special look back,

As someone who enjoys spending my free time hanging out in Sin City, I always intended to see "Jubilee", but like so many things in this crazy life, I never got around to crossing it off my bucket list. Damn! Now it's gone, at least for the foreseeable future. A once in a lifetime show like Jubilee will never be replaced or duplicated in its original form.

So, what made it such a spectacular show? To answer that question, here's a few mind boggling facts about this unique form of Vegas entertainment, the very last of the original "showgirl shows":

Jubilee opened in 1981, and it's estimated there were more than 8,000 sequins used on the lavish showgirl costumes. If all the jewelry worn by the dancers were weighed, it would total over 10,000 pounds! Just one of the fabulous feathered head-dresses weighed as much as 22 pounds.

The dressing room in the basement of Bally's where the show was based is two flights below the stage. This required the Jubilee dancers to run up and down 1700 stairs every night! And do it in heels with 22 pounds on their heads! Frickin unreal! It sounds more like an episode of Survivor!

The girls were required to be ALL NATURAL! Breast enhancements were strictly forbidden. Ah, the good ole days!

The opening number of Jubilee cost three million dollars to stage, a staggering amount!

26 people were employed to work in the costume department, and the show featured 100 different sets, including 100,000 lights and 125 miles of wiring!

If that's not enough to blow your mind, during 34 years, those luscious showgirls put on 18,720 shows to the delight of more than 18 million guests. And the gals went through 1500 pairs of fishnet stockings every year on their loooooong legs! That's a lot of fishnet, baby!

Even more amazing, the original company manager, legendary showgirl Fluff LeCoque, passed away at age 92 only two days before the show's final closing was announced.

Jubilee was an incredibly expensive show to produce, making it one of the costliest in the history of Las Vegas. Unfortunately, it reached the point where it became unprofitable, and the decision was made too close. It's the same old story we see everywhere – profits come first. Yeah, I get it, gotta make $$$, that's why it's called show "business", but it's still sad when those bright lights go dark.

I was majorly bummed to miss Jubilee, being a huge fan of all things showgirl (I'm convinced I was a Vegas showgirl in a past life lol!) By coincidence, a friend told me about a historic exhibit of Vegas costumes at the Nevada State Museum.

That lifted my post-Jubilee depression a little! The museum is located on the grounds of an area known as the Springs Preserve, not far from downtown and the Strip.

Normally, my idea of a fun time in Vegas doesn't involve anything remotely connected to a museum, but how could I pass up the opportunity to see some of these glitzy costumes up close and personal?

So, I took a leisurely day of R&R to check it out. I'm so glad I did - it was really beyond impressive and fascinating.

It was great to see that the museum included several of the costumes from Jubilee, as well as the famous Folies Bergere show, which ran for an incredible 50 years at the Tropicana.

Here's a few shots I took of the highlights....

FOLIES BERGERE COSTUME

rear view of costume

showgirl costume

Naturally, these costumes look a lot sexier on real, live girls strutting their stuff, but it was still cool to see them on public display, even if I could only peer at them through the sterile, climate-controlled glass. They literally had costumes and elaborate head-dresses displayed all the way up to the ceiling. I've never seen anything quite like it!

So, what does the future hold for the beloved Jubilee? Will it rise from the ashes as a contemporary production geared to modern tastes? Honestly, I don't think that will work. Being a true showgirl isn't just about tits and feathers. It's a classic art form which needs to be appreciated in this day and age when there's not much left to the imagination. There's talk in Vegas that some version of the show might happen again, but it will never be the mega-extravaganza that it was. Nevertheless, I like to think it will live again. There's definitely an audience for it – after all, “Fine Feathers Make Fine Fans”, and fans of shows like Jubilee will always be around. We appreciate the elegance, the style, and the sexy, timeless beauty of gorgeous women being gorgeous! If it ever opens again, this fan will definitely be there, front row center!

To see the Vegas costume exhibit, visit:

Behind Enemy L I N E S

By Eric Ross

"If you're helping to cover up this police culture, they're not all good. There's something wrong with the whole barrel. It's not just a few apples." - Bill Maher

It's a sunny summer afternoon and I'm sitting with my wife outside of a hospital. She's just had her second surgery for cervical cancer and has recovered enough to want a cigarette.

The hospital that we were at is a non-smoking campus so we ask her nurse where is the best place for us to indulge her craving. She direct us to a spot that's about 200 yards from the front door. I thought that was weird because I had seen a number of people smoking on the benches right outside the door but we took her direction.

Why?

Because we are an interracial couple and I KNOW as a Black Man I live life by a completely different set of rules.

I wheel my wife down while my daughter wheels down the pole that holds my wife's IV.

We go to the spot where I had seen plenty of people including staff sitting and enjoying a cigarette.

Our cigarette couldn't have been lit for a full minute before a police officer started heading our way. I had watched him watch us from the moment we walked out the front door. From the time he started walking I told my wife he was heading our way and my wife in her world of "white ignorance" insisted that he wasn't because we had been told where to go to smoke by a staff member and she had seen several people smoking there also - not to mention the area was littered with cigarette butts.

"You want to put those out or do you want a $1,000 dollar fine?" he asked in a VERY aggressive tone.

"Excuse me?" my wife responded.

Again, another example of my wife's white ignorance shining brightly.

I, on the other hand, understood that the only reason he had walked over in the first place was because he had seen two Black people (my daughter and I) breaking the rules.

While my wife argued with this asshole, I had already put my cigarette out so I could comply with his instructions and give my full attention to suppressing the "white privilege" argument that was beginning to escalate the situation quickly.

Here she was arguing with this motherfucker AND her cigarette was still lit!

My daughter and I both tried to convince her that it wasn't worth it. I explained to the officer that it was just the way that he approached us that had her so upset and that we would put our cigarettes out and move to an appropriate location off campus to smoke.

What I walked away with was proof for my daughter, who had her first interaction with a police officer, that what I had been saying for years was true - the police force is mostly comprised of rude, nasty, power hungry individuals that could not be trusted.

But more important than that, I realized how close I had come to death. If that same situation would have played out anywhere but in front of a hospital it would have escalated a lot faster, the cop that stood possibly 5'5" would have definitely felt threatened. I'm 5'11" and my wife is 5'9". It would have not been a good situation.

I visualized my wife being forcibly taken down for her refusal to comply, me reacting to it on impulse and taking a few bullets for no other reason than a cop with Napoleon complex trying to be a big man.

All over a cigarette, just like Sandra Bland who was pulled over for a minor traffic violation and refused to put out her cigarette.

DEAD

The details don't matter, she was pulled over for failure to signal and because she refused to accept the police officer as her God and Savior, she ended up dead.

Does it matter that she should have never been pulled from her car and man-handled for refusing to put out her cigarette...NO!

The footage of Bland's arrest shows that Encinia initially wrote a routine traffic violation warning for Bland. After he returns to her car and speaks briefly to her again, he asks her to put out her cigarette. She responds, "Why do I have to put out a cigarette when I'm in my own car?" Encinia orders her to "get out of the car", and, when she repeatedly refuses to exit, he tells her she is under arrest. After struggling to get Bland out of the car for refusing to put her cigarette out, he draws his Taser and points it at Bland, shouting "I will light you up! Get out! Now!", at which point she exits her vehicle.

It should have never reached that point but officer Encinia was an asshole with a God complex.

The same can be said for Eric Garner who was standing selling loose cigarettes when he was approached by police officer Daniel Pantaleo. When Garner complained of harassment and didn't allow Pantaleo to cuff him, he was taken down, placed in a chokehold and said he could not breathe 11 times before he lost consciousness. Garner remained lying on the sidewalk for seven minutes while the officers waited for an ambulance to arrive. The officers and EMTs did not perform CPR on Garner at the scene; according to a spokesman for the PBA, this was because they believed that Garner was breathing and that it would be improper to perform CPR on someone who was still breathing.

Watching the video it was apparent that he was dead before the ambulance arrived.

The medical examiner concluded that Garner was killed by "compression of neck (choke hold), compression of chest and prone positioning during physical restraint by police." No damage to Garner's windpipe or neck bones was found. The medical examiner ruled Garner's death a homicide.

On December 3, 2014, the Richmond County grand jury decided not to indict Pantaleo.

On July 13, 2015, an out-of-court settlement was announced in which the City of New York would pay the Garner family $5.9 million.

Let's me put that into prospective for you...the city of New York paid $5.9 million to the family whose father would never return home and a jury awarded Erin Andrews $55 million for "damages" sustained after a stranger secretly recorded her in the nude and posted the video to the internet.

$5.9 million for a death and $55 million for a peeping tom case...seriously.

Here's the Erin Andrews video - Black-LivesMatter!

The video is so grainy that you can't even tell it's her and yet she went after $75 million and was awarded $55.

Can anyone explain to me how a woman gets $55 million because 17 million people saw her naked while at the same time...

Dontre Hamilton, 31, was fatally shot 14 times by a police officer in a Milwaukee park. The officer was responding to a call from employees at a nearby Starbucks alleging that Hamilton, who had been diagnosed with paranoid schizophrenia, was disturbing the peace.

The officers who arrived first determined that Hamilton wasn't doing anything illegal.

Officer Christopher Manney showed up later and, after trying to pat Hamilton down, engaged in a struggle with him that led to the shooting. Manney was not charged.

John Crawford, 22, was shot and killed by a police officer at a Walmart in Beavercreek, Ohio. There did not appear to be a confrontation with the police, and Crawford was unarmed — he had been holding a toy BB gun.

The officers involved in the shooting, Sean Williams and David Darkow, were not charged.

UNARMED Michael Brown, 18, was shot and killed by Ferguson police officer Darren Wilson.

In November, a grand jury declined to charge Wilson in the fatal shooting. Brown's death and the lack of charges against Wilson sparked protests, some of them violent, in Ferguson and across the nation.

On March 4, the Department of Justice announced that it too would not charge Wilson for the shooting after an exhaustive investigation.

Dante Parker a married father of five in Southern California died after he was tased multiple times by police trying to arrest him for attempted burglary. A deputy stopped and questioned him about an attempted break-in at a nearby home, the San Bernardino Sheriff's Office said.

The person who reported the suspicious activity on Bucknell Court said the suspect rode away on a bike. When the deputy found Parker, he appeared "to possibly be under the influence of an unknown substance," the sheriff's office said.

Cops said Parker became belligerent and fought with the female deputy, who shot him with a stun gun several times and called for backup.

Keep in mind that he was stopped for questioning just because he was riding a bike and the person who had made the call claiming there was suspicious activity in the neighborhood said the person was riding a bike.

The report was chocked full of the same bullshit that the police always say...

- Appeared to be under the influence
- Fought with police

And then they release a photo like this one...

And we all assume that he is guilty.

This epidemic is not just limited to Black males.

Tanisha Anderson, 37, died after officers in Cleveland allegedly slammed her head on the pavement while taking her into custody.

Anderson's family said she had bipolar disorder and schizophrenia.

The family of Anderson, 37, was watching from her rambling Victorian family house in east Cleveland when she was taken into custody last November and, they say, slammed onto the pavement and handcuffed. At some point during the fatal police encounter – one of the many overlooked cases of women killed by police – she stopped breathing. Anderson was dead by the time she arrived at the hospital.

A SWAT team arrived at Tarika Wilson rented house in the Southside neighborhood of Lima, OH early in the evening of Jan. 4 to arrest her companion, Anthony Terry, on suspicion of drug dealing, said Greg Garlock, Lima's police chief. Officers bashed in the front door and entered with guns drawn, said neighbors who saw the raid. Moments later, the police opened fire, killing Ms. Wilson, 26, and wounding her 14-month-old son, Sincere, Chief Garlock said. One officer involved in the raid, Sgt. Joseph Chavalia, a 31-year veteran, has been placed on paid administrative leave.

Tamir Rice, 12, was shot and killed by Cleveland police after officers mistook his toy gun for a real weapon.

A caller reported that a male was pointing "a pistol" at random people in the Cudell Recreation Center. At the beginning of the call and again in the middle he says of the pistol "it's probably fake."

Toward the end of the two-minute call, the caller stated "he is probably a juvenile."

Within two seconds of arriving on the scene, Loehmann fired two shots, hitting Rice once in the torso. He died the next day.

A lawsuit brought against the city of Cleveland by Rice's family was subsequently settled for $6 million.

Again to put that in perspective...

A Florida jury has decided awarded Hulk Hogan $115 million in his case against Gawker over its 2012 posting of a Hulk Hogan sex tape.

In addition, Hogan got another $25 million for punitive damages.

12 year old Black child with a toy gun shot dead within 2 seconds of the police arriving on scene = $6 million.

Hulk Hogan having his dick posted on the internet = $140 million.

Again, Black Lives Matter!

I could go on forever, listing these unlawful deaths.

Walter Scott, 50, was shot by a police officer while running away from a traffic stop for a broken tail-light.

Officer Michael Slager claimed Scott had taken his stun gun, video shows that Scott hadn't taken it but knocked it out of Slager's hand.

Slager was subsequently fired and charged with murder after a video surfaced showing Scott running away, his back to the officer, as Slager fired his gun.

Freddie Gray, 25, died of a spinal cord injury a week after he was arrested by Baltimore police.

He was put in a police van, which is where police say he suffered a medical emergency.

How do you suffer an spinal cord injury while in police custody - it's called a "rough ride". The police officers were indicted but after four of them were found not guilty, the attorney general dropped the case against the remaining officers.

Lavish 'Diamond' Reynolds recorded Philando Castile being shot by police, after reaching for his ID, after he informed the officers he was a CCL holder, and that he had a firearm.

He informed the officer he was reaching for his ID and the officer fired several shots in to him his girlfriend and her daughter were in the car at the time of the shooting.

He died during the live stream post to Facebook by his girlfriend while the officer did nothing to help save his life, keeping his gun locked on this man's dead body and continually warning the girlfriend to keep her hands on the steering wheel.

In most instances these aren't situations where these Black Men and Women were caught committing some heinous crime. They weren't folks that the police were finally able to track down after several months on some most wanted list.

These folks were killed for changing lanes without signaling, picking up a BB gun in a store, playing with a toy gun, having a broken taillight, sitting in their home with their child, riding a bike, walking home from the store and COMPLYING with police instructions and reaching for their license and registration.

When asked about the recent police shootings in Dallas and Baton Rouge Maher said "I don't condone it, but I understand it."

I feel the same way.

What exactly has to be done to stop this pattern of abuse?

With seemingly no one supporting folks in the Black community this always follows the same script. A cop shoots a Black Man or Woman, they are put on administrative leave, there's outrage that results in a march or riots, and if the cop is charged they are found not guilty and acquitted.

EVERY SINGLE TIME we already know the ending before the show is over.

The true definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over and expecting a different result.

In the words of Minister Louis Farrakhan "What are you trying to force us to do?"

Black folks have marched, turned the other cheek and prayed enough.

It's time for the Black community to wake up and realize they are Behind Enemy Lines and find new ways to fight for freedom and equality.

Thanks for the ride

A guy and his date are parked out in the country away from town, when they start kissing and fondling each other. Just then, the girl stops and sits up. "What's the matter?" asks the guy. She replies, "I really should have mentioned this earlier, but I'm actually a prostitute, and I charge $100 for sex." The man thinks about it for a few seconds, but then reluctantly gets out a $100 bill, pays her, and they have sex. After a cigarette, he just sits in the driver's seat looking out the window. "Why aren't we going anywhere?" asks the girl. "Well, I should have mentioned this before," replies the man, "but I'm actually a taxi driver, and the fare back to town is $50."

Gone too soon

On hearing that her elderly grandfather has just passed away, Katie goes straight to her grandparents' house to visit her 95-year-old grandmother and comfort her. When she asks how her grandfather has died, her grandmother replies, "He had a heart attack while we were making love on Sunday morning." Horrified, Katie tells her grandmother that two people nearly 100 years old having sex will surely be asking for trouble. "Oh no, my dear. Many years ago, realizing our advanced age, we figured out the best time to do it was when the church bells would start to ring. It was just the right rhythm. It was nice, slow, and even. Nothing too strenuous, simply in on the ding and out on the dong." She pauses, wipes away a tear and then continues, "And if that damned ice cream truck hadn't come along, he'd still be alive today!"

Late night rendezvous

A man gets on a bus, and ends up sitting next to a very attractive nun. Enamored with her, he asks if he can have sex with her. Naturally, she says no, and gets off the bus. The man goes to the bus driver and asks him if he knows of a way for him to have sex with the nun. "Well," says the bus driver, "every night at 8 o'clock, she goes to the cemetery to pray. If you dress up as God, I'm sure you could convince her to have sex with you." The night the man dresses up in his best God costume. At eight, he sees the nun and appears before her. "Oh, God!" she exclaims. "Take me with you!" The man tells the nun that she must first have sex with him to prove her loyalty. The nun says yes, but tells him she prefers anal sex. Before you know it, they're getting down to it, having nasty, grunty, loud sex. After it's over, the man pulls off his God disguise. "Ha, ha!" he says, "I'm the man from the bus!" "Ha, ha!" says the nun, removing her costume, "I'm the bus driver."

Sex Facts & Figures

- For those intrigued by having a threesome, you will need to travel to Australia as 28% of the population admits to having done a threesome at least once.
- Women have the ability to make their voice sound "sexier" in order to entice their men when needed. Men, however, do not possess such an ability and simply have to rely on other factors.
- In order to know how much testosterone a man has, compare the length of his ring finger to his index finger. The longer the ring finger is in comparison to the index finger, the more testosterone in his body.

Correction

Sarah goes to school, and the teacher says, "Today we are going to learn multi-syllable words, class. Does anybody have an example of a multi-syllable word?" Sarah waves her hand, "Me, Miss Rogers, me, me!" Miss Rogers says, "All right, Sarah, what is your multi-syllable word?" Sarah says, "Mas-turbate." Miss Rogers smiles and says, "Wow, Sarah, that's a mouthful." Sarah says, "No, Miss Rogers, you're thinking of a blowjob."

Weight Loss

There is an overweight guy who is watching TV. A commercial comes on for a guaranteed weight loss of 10 pounds in a week. So the guy, thinking what the hell, signs up for it. Next morning an incredibly beautiful woman is standing at his door in nothing but a pair of running shoes and a sign about her neck that reads, "If you can catch me, you can have me." As soon as he sees her, she takes off running. He tries to catch her, but is unable. This continues for a week, at the end of which, the man has lost 10 pounds.

After this he tries the next weight loss plan, 15 pounds in a week. The next morning an even more beautiful woman is standing at the door, in similar conditions. The same happens with her as the first woman, except he almost catches her. This continues for a week, at the end of which he, as suspected, weighs 15 pounds less. Excited about this success, he decides to do the master program. Before he signs up, he is required to sign a waiver and is warned about the intensity of this plan. Still he signs up. The next morning, waiting at the door, is a hulking 300 pound muscle man with nothing but a pair of running shoes, a raging erection, and a sign around his neck that says, "If I catch you, you're mine!" The man was supposed to lose 25 pounds in the week; he lost 34.

Laying down the rules

A typical macho man married a typical good looking lady, and after the wedding, he laid down the following rules. "I'll be home when I want, if I want, what time I want, and I don't expect any hassle from you. I expect a great dinner to be on the table, unless I tell you that I won't be home for dinner. I'll go hunting, fishing, boozing, and card playing when I want with my old buddies, and don't you give me a hard time about it. Those are my rules. Any comments?" His new bride said, "No, that's fine with me. Just understand that there will be sex here at seven o'clock every night, whether you're here or not."

Measuring up

I was sitting on my own in a restaurant, when I saw a beautiful woman at another table. I sent her a bottle of the most expensive wine on the menu. She sent me a note, "I will not touch a drop of this wine unless you can assure me that you have seven inches in your pants." I wrote back, "Give me the wine. As gorgeous as you are, I'm not cutting off three inches for anyone."

Late for Class

The bell rang for school to start and John walked in late. Mr. Clark asked, "John, why are you late?" He replied, "I was on Cherry Hill." Then he sat down. Ten minutes later Nathan walked in late and Mr. Clark repeated, "Why are you late?" Nathan answered, "I was on top of Cherry Hill." Five minutes later Kevin walked in late and Mr. Clark said to him, "Kevin, where have you been?" Kevin replied, "I was on Cherry Hill." Ten minutes later a girl walked in the classroom and Mr. Clark asked, "Hi there, what's your name?" The girl replied, "Cherry Hill."

Q & A

Q: Why is sex like math?

A: You add a bed, subtract the clothes, divide the legs, and pray there's no multiplying
